

Contents

Acknowledgements

Part I: Introducing a New Way

Chapter 1: Awakening in the Midst of American Life

More + faster ≠ better—The new time management
Look beneath the surface
How the book is set up—Ready, steady, go!

Chapter 2: The Context

A brief history of time management (apologies to Stephen Hawking)—Escalating pace—Information overload—Homogeneity (same-old/same-old)
It's impossible—The remedy
Sustainability—Full cost accounting—Limited resources—To life!—A new way

Part II: Attention, Boundaries, Choices

Chapter 3: Awareness, Action, and the ABCs

Start from where you are The ABCs—Attention, Boundaries, Choices

Chapter 4: Attention—Focused and Flexible

Presence—Making the change
Attention practice—The pause button—CDR—catch, distribute, review—The tickler file—Attention “range of motion”: present/future/past, negative/positive, immersion/surface, aligning body/mind/heart/spirit
Habits of mind—Expectations, and then—Reality check—Loosening the patterns—Learning from the patterns—Satisfaction—Is satisfaction selfish?
The heartbeat challenge—Both/and not either/or—From “my heartbeat” to “my agenda”—Entrainment
Start from where you are, again

Chapter 5: Boundaries—Protected and Connected

Boundaries mediate between inside and outside—Core and periphery
Task boundaries—molding events from the river of experience—Three-phase close-down: the past, the future, the present—How closing down helps: procrastination, lack of focus, doing it until it's done, doing what fits into the time available, neglecting what we need to do for what we want to do, feeling overwhelmed—Variations on a theme: continuing after a close-down, start-up as well as close-down, Mozart and multi-tasking
Transitions

*Personal boundaries—Replenishing resources: physical, emotional, mental, spiritual—Boundary challenges: feelings point to the middle way, expand or contract, on my square
A conduit for the energy of life*

Chapter 6: Choices—In Tune with Self and Others.....

*Conscious or not?—From flat to perspective—Start here and ripple out Choose what feels good—The cascade of implications—Negative navigation—Feel good practice—More on feelings—Choosing shows us who we are Challenges to choosing—Untangling the factors: quick and easy, the untangling game—Wanting to do it right: loosening our grip on what’s “right”—Having to say “No” in order to say “Yes”
Both/and balance—A technique for achieving balance
The greater good of all—The holon*

Part III: Change, and What It Brings

Chapter 7: Change.....

*The path—ever steady progress to the shining goal or...—Punk eke—Progress and integration—What to do while waiting for change to show up
Turning bad stuff into good stuff—Internal allies: Curious Anthropologist, Bold Explorer, Creative Artist, Compassionate Witness—Truth-telling—Scouting for feeling-habits—The leverage point—Applying effort: raising awareness; rewriting the script; taking action; desire, willpower, and guilt—Three feeling-habits: irritated, anxious, discouraged—The results—acceptance, tolerance for good feelings, kindness to ourselves
Helpful techniques: gaining traction, the reset button, external allies Change is what life is all about*

Chapter 8: The Fruits of the Practice.....

*Vitality—Feeling alive only when...—Feeling alive, period—The way in life Creativity—Expression—Integritas, consonantia, claritas—A musical example Discernment—Letting go—Hozho, the tightrope walker, and Goldilocks
Personal evolution: satisfaction, sovereignty, service—A grand project
The greater evolution—Nature backs you up, and vice versa—Laying down tracks*

Resources.....

*Further reading
Useful practices and catchphrases
Feeling-habits*